Mr. Galloway said this morning:

"Register ads surely do the work for us. A little while ago we decided to close out our stock of shotgun shells, and offered them, through the Register at a reduced price. In an incredibly short time our large stock of these goods was disposed of. Next we called attention to our corn huskers for hulling walnuts, and now not one husker is left in the store.

"Now we are going to advertise firearms, and we are preparing to meet the demand no matter how large it may be."

"The people of Arizona have built many miles of the finest roads and constructed steel bridges for the highway. Within seven months the boulevard will be completed across the state. New Mexico will complete its portion in a year and Colorado is using convict labor to aid in the big project."

OUR WEEKLY SERMON

Sermon by Rev. W. L. C. Samson, preached in United Presbyterian church, Sabbath morning, Sept. 28, 1913.

Text, 1 Sam'l 1:28: "I have granted him unto the Lord. As long as he liveth he shall be granted unto the Lord."

These are the words of Hannah concerning her son Samuel, in which she fulfilled her vow to dedicate him unto the Lord.

Stories for children are always in demand. The Fairy Tales, "Uncle Remus," and Hans Anderson's stories do not grow old. Visit an art gallery and notice the pictures which are most popular, and you see that those which have to do with child life are most studied, particularly those that represent the child life of Jesus, or Jesus in relation with children. The Madonnas of the great artists are their most popular paintings.

The stories of child life, found in the scripture, are most interesting. Moses, Samuel, Jesus—how beautiful are the narratives of their births and childhood.

Our text brings before us a Hebrew wife and mother who was praying for her child. She wanted the sanctifying power of the life-giving God to be upon him in his earliest being and infancy. She had faith that the Lord of life had power to mold the spirit of her boy into the divine likeness. Mothers who crave God's blessings upon their babes usually have children who honor them in Christlike lives.

This mother also taught her child to pray. Samuel was probably three or four years old when he was taken to the place where Jehovah was worshipped in Shiloh, and put in the care of Eli. I doubt not his mother taught him to bow at her knees and with folded hands make his lisping prayer morning and evening unto the God of Moses—the life preserving God. You men and women who had Christian mothers, let mind run back and recollection brighten, and recall when she taught you to kneel and with clasped hands reverently pray, "Our Father," and say "Now I lay me down to sleep." Mothers and fathers take time every day to pray for and with their children, and teach them to pray.

This mother trained her child. Her God said through another one, "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it," and "Folly is bound up in the heart of a child, but the rod of correction will drive it far from him." She trained him to be truthful. His mother writes, "Happy the child that at his mother's knee is taught the sanctity of truth, and made to understand that enduring worth comes from 'loving truth in the inner man.'"

I think she trained him to reverence things divine and sacred; to honor his father and mother; and to respect his seniors and superiors.

I believe she trained him to be obedient. Listen to the mother of John and Charles Wesley as she speaks upon this point. "In order to form the minds of children, the first thing to be done is to conquer their wills. To inform the understanding is a work of time; but the subduing of the will must be done at once, and the sooner the better; for by neglecting timely correction they will contract a stubbornness and obstinacy that are hardly ever conquered."

Some mothers are able to train the children of others, and bless the public and Sabbath school teachers, and find fault with them and run all over town telling the sins and shortcomings of other parents, and teachers, and preachers, when their own children are the moral scourge of the children of their own neighborhood, and the impudent pest of every Sabbath school and public school teacher with whom they may be thrown.

Hannah trained her own boy so that he was not a nuisance, but an honor to himself and a delight to all who knew him.

This mother's prayers, and teaching, and training were supplemented by such Godly living as that Samuel realized her own sincerity, and none of the doubts which come where teaching is not fortified by the practices of parents, came into his heart and life.

You cannot fool children. If you are a hypocrite they know it. You sow in the souls of your children the seeds of your own inconsistencies and deceptions, and meanness, and you will reap and they will garner the harvest of shame and dishonor. It is God's truth that "The iniquities of Parents are visited upon children unto the third and fourth generation."

Parents set before your children the example of a Godly walk and conversation if you want to have your prayers for your dear ones answered, and have them practice your teaching in their lives.

This mother believed in keeping her vows and performing faithfully her religious obligations. Hannah vowed unto God that if he would remember her, she would dedicate her son unto Him all the days of his life. She had a consciousness of the sacredness and binding character of religious obligations, and scrupulously fulfilled those that rested upon her. What says God's Word about religious vows? Ps. 24: "Who shall ascend into the hills of the Lord? he that hath clean hands and a pure heart." * * * "Who hath not sworn deceitfully" who has not taken religious obligations which God and the men of God expected him to keep, but which he had no notion of keeping. Listen, Ps. 15: "Who shall abide in thy tabernacle? He that walks uprightly, and works righteousness, and does not backbite, and honors them that fear the Lord. That will not change even when he has pledged himself to something that he does not like or that hurts him." That keeps his religious agreements without fail.

"I will pay my vows unto the Lord now in the presence of all his people," sang the Psalmist. He considered his moral and religious obligations to God, and God's house, and God's cause, more sacred than his promises to men.

Jesus said something about men saying, "Lord, Lord," and yet not getting into the kingdom because they had not kept the Father's will, which they had promised to.

Jesus said again: "Whoever breaks the last commandment and teach men so, shall be the least in the kingdom." The man who is not keeping his own religious obligations, usually is running around trying to get others to join him in his covenant breaking.

Paul speaks of "covenant breakers" * * * who know that the judgment of God is that they who do such things are worthy of death, not only do the same but have pleasure in them that do them."

"Vow, and pay unto the Lord your God," is God's command.

"If a man vow a vow unto the Lord, or swear an oath to bind his soul with a bond, he shall not break his word. He shall do according to all that proceedeth out of his mouth," was Jehovah's command—a man's word to be as binding as his signature.

To Hannah, the mother of Samuel, her vow to give her son to God was sacredly kept. At length the time came when she would fulfill her vow. Taking her child with her religious offering she went unto the Lord's house at Shiloh and gave her son into the care of Eli the priest, and she "prayed and rejoiced before the Lord."

In beautiful and touching lines Mrs. Hamons has written of this event in the life of Hannah and Samuel.

The boy was vowed unto the temple service. By the hand She led him, and her silent soul, she while, Oft as the dewy laughter of his eyes

DEAVORERS CONVENTION IS THIS WEEK

E. Mission Work Will be Discussed by Practical Persons

The twenty-fourth annual convention of the Orange County Christian Endeavor Union will be held in the Presbyterian Church of Anaheim on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, October 4 and 5.

The theme is "Christian Endeavorers' True Missions," a fascinating and important topic. One important feature is that the speakers are all practical men and women actually doing the work they talk about. There are no idle dreamers or theorists on the program.

On Friday evening special attention will be given to "Floating Work," the missionary work done by Endeavorers in the seaport cities. Stereoscopic views will be given and Jay H. Walker, who was converted while a naval sailor in San Diego, will tell of the work he has done there. Attention will also be paid to this work on Saturday when John Makins, ex-superintendent of the Seamen's Rest, Nagasaki, Japan, and now in charge of the San Pedro Sailors' Rest, will speak.

Saturday evening will be devoted to "Hospital Work." Chairman John M. Ross will speak of the work being done in the Los Angeles County Hospital.

Among the prominent speakers are Dr. J. H. Hunter of the Los Angeles Bible Institute, Judge W. H. Thomas, Rev. J. A. Stevenson of Santa Ana, Rev. Bruce Brown, Fullerton; Harold Ross, ex-president Los Angeles City Union; Paul C. Brown and Miss Margaret Culler, state field secretaries; Herbert F. Rankin, general secretary, and Miss Clara P. Hassler, hospital superintendent of the California Union, and Howard E. Gates, president of the Orange County Union.

A brief summary of the program follows: Friday Evening, 7:15.—Floating Work. Stereoscopic views.

Saturday Morning, 8:30.—Quiet Hour Bible study; 10:30, conferences.

Saturday Afternoon, 1:30.—Business meeting, election of officers; 2:30, conference.

Saturday Evening, 6:15.—Street meeting; 7:15, hospital work, etc.

Sunday Morning, 9:00.—Quiet Hour Bible study; 11:00, sermon by Dr. J. H. Hunter.

Sunday Afternoon, 2:30.—Junior rally, Methodist church; 2:30, inter-mediate rally, Christian church; 2:30, meeting at county hospital; 2:30, conference, Presbyterian church.

Sunday Evening, 7:30.—Young People's rally; 7:30, installation service; closing address, "The Man and the Hour," Rev. Bruce Brown.

A cordial invitation is extended to the young people of all denominations to attend.

The Anaheim Endeavorers will provide lodging for all visiting delegates.

PASTOR OF M. E. CHURCH CLOSES CONFERENCE YEAR

Gives Report of New Membership for Year—Financial Gifts Were Phenomenal

Last night, at the First Methodist Church, Rev. E. J. Inwood, pastor, gave a report of the work of the year which closed with yesterday's services. Mr. Inwood said in part: "When a year ago I came to you

"I promised myself and my God that, according to my ability, I would preach Jesus Christ. As I review the year, now gone forever, my heart is humbled by the shortcomings, the failures, the mistakes, but this I will assert, I have made Christ the standard of my thinking and the center of my preaching. I have treated the word of God as a subordinate standard and have tried to exalt the Word of God above doctrinal symbols. I have sought to interpret this Bible to you in the light of Christ's own words. What Jesus did not preach I have refused to preach, what Jesus did not command I have not bound upon your consciences. I have done my best to present the truth of the Divine Fatherhood according to the revelation of Jesus, and my last testimony at this our last service for this year shall be that there is but one only Savior for the human soul, one Supreme Master for the human mind, one safe and infallible guide for the human life, and that is Jesus Christ our Lord."

"I have sought to make our services simple, helpful, spiritual. In this I have had the hearty support of a faithful, efficient, voluntary choir, and of a loyal, devoted official board. During the year many have been led to Christ. While I feel grateful that the word has not returned void, it is mingled with deep regret that many an opportunity has been neglected or insufficiently used. May the scarred hand of Calvary blot out all these shortcomings. With devout thankfulness to God I desire to express my gratitude for the hearty support I have received from all the departments of the church, and to all who by their presence, their gifts, their service, their prayer, have contributed to the success of the work this year. You will be glad to know that during the year we have received into membership into this church, by letter and on confession of faith, two hundred and fifty-five persons. This would be a very respectable church of itself. I have had sixty baptisms. Eleven of our members have been transferred from the church militant to the church triumphant in heaven. They sing the Lamb in hymns above, and we in hymns below."

"As our gatherings have been phenomenal, so have been our gifts. Apart from the support of the church here at home we have received $4013 in benevolent offerings for the work outside. These gifts touch almost every part of the work of God on earth. They include every mission field abroad and at home. Beside the home and foreign mission boards, the work of Dr. Grenfell in Labrador, the relief board of Constantinople, and a dozen noble causes in our own land, outside the regular church benevolences, have been recipients of our aid. Besides this we have paid this year about $6000 on our church improvement debt. Thus the year has been one of peace and prosperity. And now as a closing message I commend to you the words of Paul: 'Be determined to know nothing save Jesus Christ and Him crucified.'"

DIVORCE EVIL HIS SUBJECT

Judge Thomas Delivered Able Address at Meeting Yesterday

Says Remedy Lies in Wider Acceptance of Teachings of Christ

A splendid address upon a subject of vital importance for American citizenship was given by Judge W. H. Thomas, at the First Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon, as the first of a series of Sunday afternoon talks to be given at intervals during the fall and winter. The series was arranged in response to a request coming from Judge Thomas' Sunday morning bible class that a wider hearing be given to the talks which he has been presenting to the class upon the Plagues of Egypt. For each of the ten plagues of old Egypt the speaker finds a parallel in the life of today. These are: The Divorce Evil, Amusements, Municipal Misrule, Corrupt Journalism, Lynching, Social Impurity, Our City Carnival, Gambling, Murder, Intemperance.

After briefly outlining the entire field and calling attention to the tremendous importance of a knowledge of the facts, Judge Thomas devoted over an hour to a discussion of the first plague, the Divorce Evil, which he characterized as the most serious menace to our civilization today, because tending to undermine the integrity of the family, upon which social stability depends. The facts and figures bearing upon the subject were graphically represented by a number of charts and diagrams.

According to trustworthy investigations the increase of divorce in the past twenty years has been three times as great as the growth of population. In 1886 the number of divorces granted in the United States was 25,527; in 1906 it had risen to 72,962. With the exception of Japan we head the list among the nations of the world in the number of divorces. Canada granted four divorces in 1868 and 42 in 1906. The United States has more divorces than all the rest of the so-called Christian world. The European nations furnish less than half as many divorces and yet had a population in 1909 of more than two hundred millions.

Coming nearer home Judge Thomas gave some interesting figures for Orange and Los Angeles counties. From 1887, when the county was independently organized, to 1906 the official reports show that 3537 marriages were solemnized in Orange county, and in the same period only 216 divorces were granted. This good showing, however, is misleading for the reason that many persons come to Santa Ana to get married and take up their residence elsewhere.

The showing for Los Angeles county is startling. According to the official records it was found that from Nov. 1, 1910 to Nov. 1, 1911, there was one divorce granted to every three marriage licenses issued, the total number of divorces in that year being 2221, and the number of marriage licenses 6600.

Figures gathered by the United States census show a decrease in both the marriage rate and the birth rate in this country. In 1870 the marriage rate in proportion to population was 37.8 per cent; in 1880, 37.7; in 1890, 35, and in 1900, 36.7. (The slight raise was due to change in the proportion of children and really represents a continued decline of the marriage rate).

From investigation made in Massachusetts it was discovered that in 82,000 homes there was but one child in each family.

Passing to a discussion of the underlying causes for this increase of divorce Judge Thomas grouped them under five heads: (1) Wrong notions of marriage. (2) Hasty marriages. (3) The secularization of marriage. (4) Love of money and social position. (5) The refusal to assume parental obligations. The speaker alluded to the fact that many landlords have a sign up in their premises, "No dogs or children allowed," thereby penalizing children and making it difficult for a man with a large family to rent apartments.

In concluding this most interesting address Judge Thomas drove home the telling effect his firm conviction that the only ultimate solution of this glaring plague lies in the acceptance and application of the teachings of Jesus Christ. "Appalling as these figures are, dark as the cloud may appear, he declared, 'I have every confidence that these things will be settled by the principles laid down by Jesus Christ, and that if we had applied these principles heretofore there would be no divorce problem today to study.'"

MISSSES DEATH INCHES ONLY

Spanish Boy and Motorcycle Fell in Front of Samuel Tustin's Automobile

Driver of Machine Prevented Tragedy by Use of Quick Judgment in Emergency

A Spanish or Mexican youth whose name was not learned came close to being killed yesterday afternoon near Delhi. Only the quick judgment and action of Samuel Tustin prevented what could very easily have been a tragedy.

Tustin with Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Turner, Ruth Turner, Mrs. J. S. Rice and Miss Rosa Ford in his machine was on his way to Bay Island. On South Main street they saw a number of young men standing beside the road. Just before reaching the group, Tustin saw one of them leave and come toward him, running beside a motorcycle that the youth evidently intended to mount.

All would have been well, and the motorcycle would have passed on its right side of the road had not the motorcycle struck a rut and in the wink of an eye the motorcycle and motorcyclist were thrown squarely in front of Tustin's machine. There was no possibility that the machine could be stopped in that short distance. Tustin took in the lay of the ground instantly, and turned sharply at right angles. One wheel barely grazed the boy. The motorcycle was smashed. Beside the road was a ditch. At that place only along the road could the automobile have crossed the ditch. Tustin guided the machine over it and brought it to a stop in the field.

The motorcyclist and those who saw the accident all united in saying that the automobilist was not in the least to blame. The automobilist took a big chance on turning over rather than run over the youth. The motorcyclist was glad that he escaped with his life.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapiesin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unerring action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble have made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember, as soon as Pape's Diapiesin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.—Advertisement.

Strengthen Weak Kidneys
Don't suffer longer with weak kidneys. You can get prompt relief by taking Electric Bitters. That wonderful remedy praised by women everywhere. Start with a bottle today, you will soon feel like a new woman with ambition to work, without fear of pain. Mr. John Dowling of San Francisco, writes: "Gratitude for the wonderful effect of Electric Bitters prompts me to write. It cured my wife when all else failed." Good for the liver as well. Nothing better for indigestion or biliousness. Price 50c and $1.00 at all druggists.—Advertisement.

New Law Takes $1 a Month from New Teachers for Pension Fund

All Other Teachers Must Sign a Statement Giving Permission

Yesterday County Superintendent of Schools R. P. Mitchell and his wife returned from the state convention of school superintendents held at Shasta Springs. One of the most important subjects that came up for discussion and enlightenment at the convention was the procedure to be followed by county superintendents in gathering in the money for the teachers' pension fund.

Chairman Langdon of the State Board of Education said that the rule laid down is that all teachers who this year begin teaching in California are subject to a reduction of $1 per month from their warrants, this $1 to be applied to the pension fund. It is not optional with new teachers. They began employment after the new pension law went into effect.

Langdon said that the state board holds that teachers who have been teaching hitherto in the state are in a different class. The $1 a month can not be taken from their warrants without their consent. Any teacher who was in the schools last year will draw full salary unless a statement accepting the conditions of the law is signed by the teacher. Unless the $1 a month is applied to the pension fund, the teacher can never benefit by the pension fund.

Under the law $500 a year will be paid as a pension to every teacher who has taught for thirty years and who is entitled to the benefits under the law.

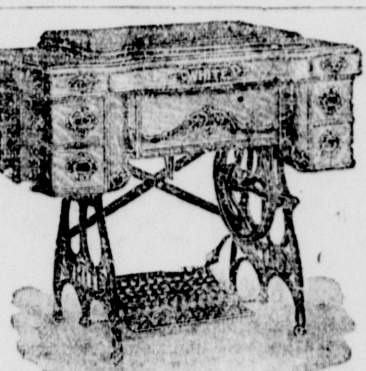

The state text-book situation was discussed and it was decided to distribute text-books directly from the state office to clerks of school boards, requisitions being first approved by the county superintendent.

Superintendent Mitchell states that Orange county schools are well supplied with new text-books from the state, except advanced geography and some of the grammars.

GOSPEL OF THOROUGHNESS

About thirty-five years ago "Jim" Hill used to sit on the St. Paul levee whittling an old wood chair and talking of buying the St. Paul and Pacific railroad. He was called the most garrulous talker of the Northwest. Few people took him seriously.

Hill and five other men put $238,000 into that railroad, and ten years later their investment was worth $19,000,000. Today James J. Hill, who celebrated his 75th birthday at Glacier Park a few days ago, is the foremost living railroad king. The qualities that led to his amazing success are worth the study of every ambitious man.

The St. Paul and Pacific people, trusting in the growth of the country, watered their stock so that Hill used to say they had taken in all Lake Michigan. These were gambling chances which the everyday man must avoid.

"Little ships must keep near shore, larger ships may venture more."

Where Hill won was in thoroughness of detail. While other railroad promoters were dictating letters in comfortable office chairs, Hill was on his railroad platform talking with engineers about valves and boilers and with passengers about the resources of the country. He knew his rolling stock and his field as a stage driver knows his horses and territory.

Hill would talk over his plans with any one from a bootblack to a Wall Street magnate. Every one would suggest some idea, until his schemes came out quite different, as the result of a consensus of his neighbors' common sense. Few business men in these days of government regulation will ever make so great a success. But Hill's habit of knowing every last detail of his business is something that can be imitated with amazing results by every man in his own trade.

FORETELLING WEATHER

As scientific methods of work grow, many traditional and primitive arts, though successful in their own way, disappear. Reflection along this line was prompted today on reading a dispatch sent out from Central Park, New York. The menagerie keepers, it appears, predict a cold winter, because the squirrels are building nests a month earlier than usual.

Can weather be predicted by observing the ways of animals? All the old people thought so. Stockmen say cattle are restless some hours before a man can see signs of storm. Chickens and old birds before rain. If an owl hoots in a hollow, it means a cold storm. If he cries on the hill, it portends warmer weather. If horns blow low, winter will be cold. And so on.

Scientific research seems to be against the bulk of this lore. Prof. Huxley, of the university of France's zoology department, recently studied the familiar sign by which the low flight of swallows is supposed to indicate storm. He concluded that the swallows' flight was not directly due to atmospheric conditions, but that they followed the insects. Often he found these insects high up before storm, the swallows following them.

The old-timers watched weather in dictations sharply. But the one time when a sign was verified was remembered, while the dozen times it failed were forgotten. They were remarkably accurate in their deductions from cloud movements. To the people of solitary spaces, sky and clouds were a theater of contending forces that gave them diversion. Slight changes were seen and corresponding results noted.

Peasant immigrants from Europe are still keenly interested in weather. If you want to know if you can safely venture a picnic, you can do about as well to ask a peasant as to trust the learned weather bureau forecasts!

Big Mistake
Bluffers bounced into the club, jammed his hat down on a table with a fierce bang, and flung himself into an easy chair.

"What's wrong today, Bluffers? You look bad."

"I'll never forgive myself. I kicked a man out of my house last night."

"Humph! I've kicked out many a one. Young fellow, I suppose?"

"No; past middle age."

"Well, these old coppers have no business to be coming around courting young girls. I would have kicked him out myself."

"Yes; but I have found out since that the man wasn't hurting my daughter. He was after my mother-in-law."

Mr. Hawkins Comes Again

Trusting the editor will receive and publish this in the same kindly spirit that actuates the writer in making this reply to "Editor's Note," of article in this column on last Friday, in which he asks What of the work of capital investment, and the various workers and factors entering into the manufacture of an automobile before the work in the factory begins?

Of course we know it is only through the aid of modern machinery that it is possible for one man to make an auto in seventeen days. One man without machinery of any kind could not make an auto at all—or anything else of consequence, for that.

I beg to ask in fairness if the machinery really represents capital invested? If you wish to call capital what it really represents, that of surplus labor, I will concede that it does. But at first thought the machine and even the finished product conveys to my mind the expression, in concrete form, of course, of the accumulated knowledge of ages; and I hold that no man or set of men have positive and unlimited right to hold that knowledge to exploit his fellow man, as do the auto industry, the railroads, mills and factories all over the land.

The genius that can take two of the already established units, and put them together in such a way as to make a new invention, thereby increasing man's productive power, is worthy of great compensation; but when he has been compensated for his invention, I believe that no man, not even the inventor, should be allowed to use the invention to make profit from his fellow man for himself. Very candidly I believe it should be used for the good of all mankind.

And as it is shown that for 1000 feet of lumber labor is paid 50c, and that steel can be gotten so cheaply through the aid of modern machinery, and if no man was living from the sweat of another man's brow; that is to say, if there was no profit taking—and I am sure that state of affairs could exist, in fact will exist when the people learn co-operation;—then we will buy things for just what it costs to produce them.

And that is to say, that if an auto, through the aid of machinery, be made in one day, that is all you will have to pay for the same. And under that state of affairs people would welcome, in fact encourage invention as it has never been encouraged before. There would be no incentive to suppress invention.

I can not touch positively for it, but I have been told, and have reason to believe, that there is, within the confines of the patent offices, or probably in the hands of a "rubber trust," an automobile tire that, if it were allowed to be made and sold, would, because of its durability and the cheapness with which it can be made and sold, revolutionize the auto tire trouble of today to such an extent as to impair the health of the "rubber trust"; that there would be grave danger of its starving to death for lack of patronage from the auto tire using public.

In fact it cannot be estimated the labor or length of time it has taken to make the auto the reality it is today.

H. J. HAWKINS.

Editor's Note:—There is no desire or intention on the part of the editor of this paper to engage in a controversy, or even a discussion, with Mr. Hawkins or anyone else on any subject that may be presented in this department. The object of the "People's Forum" is to afford opportunity for the expression of individual views. Mr. Hawkins' last preceding communication was so manifestly misleading as to the economics of socialism that the editor of this paper felt impelled to call attention to that fact. That Mr. Hawkins has not strengthened his argument in his last communication, as is printed above, is painfully apparent to any intelligent reader.

It takes just so much amount of human labor and just so much raw material (the minerals in the earth and the lumber in the forest) to produce an automobile, and it is absurd to talk about basing the cost of production of an automobile on "one man's work for seventeen days."

There are thousands of units (no matter what you may call a unit) of labor in a finished automobile besides those put into it by "one man in seventeen days," or "seventeen men in one day," in the factory; and it is useless to argue with a man who is blind to this fact.

DEVELOPMENT OF IRRIGATION IN CALIFORNIA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—To assist in bringing about the fullest utilization of the irrigation resources of California, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has recently issued a bulletin on Irrigation Resources of California and Their Utilization, by Frank Adams, irrigation manager in charge of work in California. This is Bulletin 254 of the Office of Experiment Stations.

This bulletin brings out the fact, that, despite the extent and importance of its irrigation interests, California has not kept pace, from an administrative standpoint, with other western states.

While it has long been known that California contains a very large area of agricultural land needing irrigation in order to develop its highest productive capacity, it has also been known that the state has given much less attention to administrative irrigation laws than have most of the other western states. The long failure on the part of this state to enact such laws has been due very largely to lack of appreciation of the value of such legislative measures as a means of bringing about the most economical development. The apparent diversity of interests between the northern and southern portions of California, due to the more rapid irrigation development of the latter, has led to differences of opinion on this important point. There are also those who are satisfied to let development in irrigation take its course without legislative guide or restriction.

As regards the fundamental need of protecting public irrigation rights to the end that the irrigation waters shall not be wasted but shall bring prosperity to the largest number of farm homes, there is no north or south in California. Irrigators in Southern California, however, are not generally willing to admit this fact because on the whole they use water very economically. Rights to water for irrigation have, however, been acquired by them, as by others in California, only in suits between individuals in which the state has not been represented, and it has never been appreciated generally that such procedure nearly always involves some public waste. Throughout the state education in better methods on the one hand and on the other the exercise of sufficient public control to keep use down to crop necessities are the only means that can insure the kind of irrigation progress that is truly economical.

Realizing the need of a better understanding throughout the state regarding the extent of the irrigable lands and of the possible irrigation development with the available water supply, the State Conservation Commission, appointed in 1911 for the purpose of investigating the natural resources of the state and of recommending legislation for their better conservation and utilization, arranged for co-operation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture in a comprehensive study of the irrigation resources, conditions, and possibilities of the state. The results of this study are reported in the bulletin referred to and were made the basis of improved legislation relating to irrigation at the last session of the state legislature.

The bulletin attempts to assemble and digest information relating to irrigation for the whole state rather than to give a more detailed account of a few selected localities. It contains three large colored maps showing the distribution of agricultural lands and the present state of irrigation development in northern, central and southern California, respectively. The importance and the possibilities of irrigation development in the state are revealed by the statement that "the total area of irrigable agricultural land found in zones of irrigation water supplies, which includes all valley lands, the rolling plains of the Great Valley, the arable portions of the Sierra foothills up to about 3000 feet in elevation, and all of the plateau and desert lands to which some irrigation water supplies are available, is 21,865,200 acres, of which 2,192,646 acres are already irrigated, and 9,699,600 acres are estimated as the area to be ultimately irrigated."

Of the total irrigable areas found, about 28.5 per cent are in northern California, about 44 per cent are in central California, and about 27.5 per cent are in southern California. Of the total irrigated area, about 15 per cent is in northern California, about 61 per cent is in central California, and about 24 per cent is in southern California. Of the areas it is estimated may ultimately be irrigated about 35.5 per cent of the total are in northern California, about 44.5 per cent are in central California, and about 20 per cent are in southern California. Of the estimated future increase in the irrigated acreage of California, about 45 per cent is allotted to northern California, about 26.5 per cent to central California, and about 18.5 per cent to southern California.

The agriculture of California has long been a subject of scientific investigation so that the main agricultural characteristics of the state are known. Most of the soils, alkalis, crops, waters, and cultural methods to develop irrigation have been discussed for many years in publications of the California Experiment Station. A full irrigation census of the state, in which the U. S. Department of Agriculture co-operated, was made during 1910 and 1911.

These investigations have made it plain that irrigation is neither equally necessary nor equally advantageous throughout California, nor is it possible to determine either its necessity or its advantages wholly by the annual rainfall. However, rainless summers render irrigation either a necessity or a marked advantage in nearly every section of the state.

While studies of the actual water requirements of crops have not gone far enough to give final results, they furnish an excellent basis for further study of this important question and have already shown that the best economy and the greatest practical extension of the irrigated area demands legislation limiting irrigation rights to beneficial use as determined by the amounts of water actually required to grow crops. Only a realization and enforcement of this principle can bring about the irrigation of the nearly 10,000,000 acres of California agricultural lands that it is estimated in this report may ultimately be watered.

The equitable and orderly distribution and delivery of water to actual users will undoubtedly in the end transcend in importance matters of even public control, but such handling of irrigation water is not possible unless rights to the water are certain, and it is believed that results will fall far short of the possible and practicable unless California gives the same measure of attention and support to questions of public control as is given in other western states.

Copies of this bulletin with its elaborate maps may be had from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., at 75 cents per copy.

COME NOW: LET US REASON TOGETHER

Extracts from an address given by Rev. Ervin S. Chapman, D. D., LL. D., Superintendent of the State Anti-Saloon League of Southern California, at Anaheim, Sunday Evening, September 21st.

"Come now, and let us reason together, saith the Lord." This word of God by the Prophet Isaiah, is my message tonight. By due process of law the people of Anaheim will soon have the opportunity to decide, at the ballot box, whether the beverage liquor traffic shall be conducted in this city by your permission, and under your authority. Remember, I am not saying, you are to determine at the polls with absolute certainty whether men shall sell intoxicating liquors in this city, for there are evil minded men who will engage in that traffic, even though it is forbidden by law.

But the question you are to decide is whether that traffic with all its consequences, shall be approved by you, and shall in the future as in the past be conducted under the protection and authority of Government.

There are two classes of people before me tonight to whom I wish to make special appeals with reference to the campaign we are now in.

Admonitions to Drys

1st. There are those who are opposed to the liquor traffic and are determined that it shall be put under the ban instead of the protection of government. To you, dear friends, permit me to give a golden text for this campaign. Here it is: "For the battle is not yours, but God's."—2 Chron. 20:15. This warfare against the liquor traffic is a divinely inspired effort, and in the name of the Lord of Hosts we go forth to this battle. Let me, as your leader, lovingly admonish you that all your efforts and words shall be worthy of your relation to your Divine Lord and Master. Let your words be such, and your efforts such, as will correctly represent Him. Let all your public meetings, not alone on the Lord's day, but whenever they may be held, be opened with devotional exercises. Invoke the Divine blessings upon your efforts, and at your family altars, and in your closets, plead with God for victory over this great evil. Ask Him to move upon the hearts of voters, and cause them to aid you to protect your homes and families against this great evil of all earthly evils. Permit me also to give you a scriptural motive for all your prayers and activities. Here it is: "For Jesus' sake." That was the motive which inspired Paul to all his wonderful life of devotion and effort. Let that be your motive by day and by night through all this campaign.

Keep Sweet

And let me repeat the admonition I have so frequently given—"Keep sweet." Be earnest, be enthusiastic, be unyieldingly determined, fight for your homes and families, and your material interests as well as for your loved ones, but "keep sweet."

A Word to Wets

2nd. I would recommend to those who are favorable to the continuance of the saloon in Anaheim, all that I have said to those who are opposed to that institution. Let your public meetings be opened with prayer. Bring some one to your platform—if you can—who, with fervency of soul, will say: "Oh, Lord, God of our fathers, help us to keep the saloon in Anaheim; Oh, Thou who didst die that men might be redeemed and helped to purity of character, and to live an exalted and blameless life—Thou Saviour of men, help us to keep the saloon in Anaheim." I am not saying this by way of ridicule. This is too sacred and too solemn a theme for that method of speaking. I am saying it for the purpose of bringing before you the important truth that unless you can thus invoke the blessings of God upon your efforts, and unless you can ask for His assistance, you may be sure that sooner or later your efforts will come to naught.

Play Fair

Let me furthermore admonish you, friends and neighbors, that all your efforts to secure a verdict favorable to the saloon be conducted in a way worthy of your American citizenship. Let there be no crookedness upon your part in this campaign, no colonizing of voters, no false registrations, no attempt to secure illegal votes. Fellow citizens, we have passed the day when improper methods at the ballot box can be made desirably successful. You may, possibly, at this coming election, secure a sufficient number of illegal votes in favor of the saloon to outnumber the votes that are cast against it, but "Be not deceived, God is not mocked," you can not keep the saloon permanently in Anaheim by that method. Every illegal effort upon your part will hasten the day when the verdict of the people will be over the saloon, and a traffic that must be maintained by such methods, will hold in my hand before you tonight a complaint which the people of the city of Ventura have filed with the Superior Court of that county, asking for an injunction against 93 people whose names, as is alleged, are illegally upon the Great Register of that city. Only thirteen of those whose names appear upon this paper have responded to the call of the Court to show cause why their names should not be stricken from the Register. A shame and a disgrace to our civilization are such proceedings. Let them not occur in Anaheim. We most earnestly desire that we may not be compelled to pursue the course which has been adopted at Ventura. We earnestly desire that we may not be compelled to appeal to the courts for protection against illegal registration and illegal voting, but we must do things sometimes which we do not like to do, and it is better to have those who encourage or practice illegal registration or voting punished for their crimes, than to have the election laws defied and trampled upon as they sometimes are.

Upon a previous occasion the liquor favoring people of Ventura conducted their campaign with such glaring and outrageous fraud that the city trustees disregarded the vote and themselves adopted a prohibitory ordinance.

Why should you vote against the saloon?

The Saloon Damages Your City

1st. Because the existence of the licensed saloon in your city is an unspeakable damage to your material interests. This is not the highest motive by which you may be actuated, but it is a proper motive. There are some things respecting which there can be no doubt. The saloon degrades the value of the property in which it is conducted. If instead of the saloon there were hardware, dry goods or other store conducting legitimate business that property would be more valuable than with a grog shop. No one can call this statement in question. The saloon also depreciates the value of all property adjacent to it. The greater damage comes to property next to the saloon and that damage decreases as you get away from the place where the saloon is in operation.

Diverts Legitimate Trade

The saloon diverts trade from legitimate channels and causes it to be turned into the grog shops of your city. Every person engaged in any branch of legitimate business suffers from this turning aside of the funds which are invested in trade from legitimate channels to the tills and coffers of the liquor seller. Merchants may not feel free to confirm this statement, but they know it is the truth.

Injures City's Reputation

The saloon gives to your city a bad reputation wherever that city is known. I am not proclaiming this outside of the city of Anaheim. I am not traducing your city or seeking to injure its reputation by this statement, but there is not a citizen of Anaheim of average intelligence who does not know that the very mention of the name of your city has an alcoholic odor. Fellow citizens, you cannot afford to have this condition continue. Did you ever know a real estate man to attempt to sell a piece of property by calling attention to the fact that it was near a saloon? Did you ever know a city to make prominent or even to mention in its advertisements the fact that there were so many licensed saloons in that city? Why is not the fact made prominent? Why not, on your bulletin board, even by your station, on which you mention the great merits of Anaheim—all of which are true and more than true—why do you not put there in glaring capitals the fact that you have saloons conducted under the authority of your city? Put that statement there if you will, put it there if the saloon is not a curse to your community and a damage to your material interests. Of course, no person interested in the material prosperity of this city would, for a moment, consent to such an announcement upon your bulletin board or in the literature by which you are seeking to attract attention of home builders to your city. But if your verdict on election day is favorable to the saloon you will proclaim that fact far and wide, and you will add to the influences which, in the years of the past and today, are keeping the better classes from making their homes in your city or adjacent to it. The better classes who are already residents of this city realize this fact, and hence this uprising of the people to banish from your midst the institution which is contributing so largely to your material disadvantage.

Handicaps Your Children

The saloon adds to the difficulties which your children encounter in their efforts to grow up into noble manhood and womanhood. With every advantage it will be hard enough for your boys and girls to reach an exalted destiny, but how much more difficult it will be with the licensed saloon in your midst. For God's sake, do not make their struggles more difficult, discouraging and unsuccessful!

Government Must Forbid the Saloon

Furthermore, and finally, friends and neighbors, you should vote against the saloon for the fundamental and valid reason that civil government has no right, authority or power to do otherwise than to forbid that harmful institution. Civil government was instituted, and is maintained, by the Supreme Ruler of the world for the promotion of right and for the prohibition and prevention of wrong. And you good people, who, under our form of government, have the power to determine what the attitude of that government shall be, are under the most solemn and sacred obligations to forbid the beverage liquor traffic from being conducted within your city. The right to vote includes the duty to vote right. Since the dawn of civilization all authorities on civil jurisprudence, without one word of dissent, declare that civil government cannot rightfully give legal standing to anything which is evil in its nature or harmful in its influence. That the saloon is an institution whose nature and influence are such that it cannot properly be given legal standing is indicated by the declaration of our national Supreme Court that to engage in the beverage liquor traffic "is not a privilege of a citizen of the state or of a citizen of the United States."

If no person has a right, as an American citizen, to engage in that traffic in Anaheim, certainly the people of this city have no right to confer upon them the "privilege" of doing so.

A FORTUNE ON A SMALL INVESTMENT

There are times when a small investment has made a tremendous fortune and has made the man who grasped the opportunity independent for life.

There is a large tract of proven oil land adjoining a large body of producers in a nearby field upon which there is no title sufficient to hold it. The man who has held the reserved title for years has placed the matter in another's hands to perfect the title and secure unquestioned control. This man is making the necessary moves to claim the property. An attorney, who is familiar with these titles, is examining all documents and will soon render his opinion. If the whole matter is regular and title can be secured it will require additional capital of $2000. This amount will secure an undivided one-fourth interest in the property. This tract lies next to a property with a vast number of big producers and is proven territory, and it is claimed will bring from $3000 to $5000 per acre in the open market.

The first person who is wide awake to this exceptional opportunity can be satisfied on every point. Details will be given personally and not by mail. Send your name, address and phone number if you are interested. Address "C," Box 35, Register Office—Advertisement.

DUCK SEASON WILL OPEN ON WEDNESDAY

Newport News: The sound of the shotgun will be abroad in the land next Wednesday morning, for at that time the open season on ducks commences and every sportsman in the city is expecting to be on hand at some favorite spot in hopes of getting a few shots at least if not any ducks.

The upper bay will as usual be the favorite rendezvous of most of the hunting parties although if the shooting is no better there this year on the opening day than it was last year there will not be many ducks slaughtered. However, the prospects are better as there is a great deal more water in the San Joaquin club grounds than there was last year.

Some will go up the river and some will lie along the beach adjoining the Surf, Newport and Pacific gun clubs to execute a few ducks as they fly out to the ocean after the cannonading begins on the duck ponds by the club members.

There are undoubtedly a great many ducks somewhere in this vicinity as the early flight of ducks this year was heavier than ever before but very few ducks have been flying lately.

STATE HIGHWAY BLUE-PRINTS RECEIVED

Main Roads Followed in Route from Santa Ana to La Habra Line

Today the Board of Supervisors received from the State Highway Commission complete blue-prints of two sections of the proposed state highway in this county. One section is that lying between the north city limits of Santa Ana and the south city limits of Anaheim, following the main traveled road. The other section is that between the north city limits of Anaheim and the Los Angeles county line in La Habra Valley, following the main traveled road and an upper road through La Habra Valley.

These blue-prints show the right-of-way desired by the state, and it is put up to the county to at once proceed to get for the state the rights-of-way through "purchase, donation, dedication or condemnation."

A large share of the rights-of-way belong to the county, having been public highway for years. County Surveyor McBride has been busy for weeks straightening out the rights-of-way, and the county has bought two rounded corners as desired by the state. It is believed that few, if any, condemnation suits will be necessary. It is believed that the State Highway Commission will let contracts for the building of the state highway between Santa Ana and the county line at La Habra within a week.

Beach has brought suit for divorce against George H. Burkhardt. F. A. Preston and Williams & Rutan are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Marriage License
Fred H. Spear, 24, and Carrie Dukes, 20, both of Santa Ana.

Trial Today
A jury was secured in record time in Judge West's court today when the first twelve men called into the jury box were instantly accepted by attorneys on both sides. The case was that of T. G. Gonzales, charged with burglarizing Mrs. Elizabeth Collins' cottage at Laguna Beach on May 22. Mrs. Collins lives near Orange. Gonzales had a tent in Laguna canyon, and when Fred Trefren searched it a quantity of stolen goods was found, including blankets and silverware taken from the Collins cottage.

Deputy District Attorney Koepke is prosecuting, and Attorney Leonard Evans of Anaheim is defending. On the jury are C. W. McNaught, R. P. Selvidge, O. M. Childs, P. W. Wyland, O. P. Bunyard, R. E. Lewis, E. A. Stockslager, A. K. Cravath, B. T. Beale, H. E. Carner, W. D. Rose and G. W. Minter.

Quickly Settled
This morning when Judge Thomas opened court to try the case of the Continental Refinery Co. against G. H. L. Christ, an electric light man of Newport Beach, the attorneys brought in a stipulation of settlement. By it Judge Thomas entered judgment of $701.95 with $30 costs against Christ.

New Trial Denied
Today Judge Welborn of Los Angeles denied a new trial in the case of Rodemeyer against Meger, in which case Judge Welborn recently gave judgment ordering Rodemeyer not to carry water across Meger's land. Judge Welborn sat in extra session here, there being three superior judges on the bench at one time, the first time in the county's history.

DIGGS CAMINETTI CHARGES CLEARED FROM CALENDAR

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 29.—Every criminal charge in the local courts against Maury Diggs and Drew Caminetti, Misses Warrington and Norris were dismissed today on motion of the district attorney.

Charges still pending in the juvenile court in the matter of declaring the girls' dependents of the court, Judge Shields will render a decision at a future day. The district attorney and a majority of the probation committee favor the dropping of the charges.

BULGAR AND TURK FORM ALLIANCE AGAINST GREECE

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 26.—Representatives of Turkey and Bulgaria signed a treaty today whereby Bulgaria loses Adrianople and the Thracian territory west of the Maritza river, and provides for an alliance between the two countries. It is believed the alliance is aimed at Greece, which now seems to be a common foe of Bulgar and Turk.

RANCH BROUGHT MANY TIMES ITS COST

Seven Years Ago $7,000 Was Paid for it—It Now Sells for $50,000

ORANGE, Sept. 29.—Seven years ago $7,200 was paid for twenty-nine and a half acres on North Tustin street at Villa Park. A deal has just been closed for the sale of the ranch for $50,000.

The property was bought by C. E. Isaacson and his partner, Powers. The ranch was set out to oranges. The property lies but a short distance from where the Standard Oil Co. is drilling its well, and part of the price of $50,000 may have been for the ranch's prospective oil value. The purchaser is a syndicate known as the Taylor, Garrett & Van der Sijde Syndicate, that has dealt in Mexican oil and land properties.

About three years ago Isaacson bought Powers out.

Fired Two Shots
Last night A. L. Tomblin waked up and saw a man peering into his bedroom. He watched that man, and saw him go to another window. Tomblin slipped to a closet and got a revolver, and then headed for out-of-doors. He fired two shots. Nobody was hit.

Suit on Accounting
C. S. Head has brought suit against the George S. Harper Fruit Co. of Orange for $2200. The complaint states that from Nov. 15 to Feb. 15 Head was a buyer for Harper at $5 per month plus twenty per cent of the profits of oranges bought, during which time twenty carloads were bought. From Feb. 15 to Sept. 26 Head bought eighty carloads, on which he says he was to get one-third of the profits. He alleges he has received $2400 and there is $2200 due him. Keach & Davis are his attorneys.

PLAN MANY HOMES FOR EAST NEWPORT

EAST NEWPORT, Sept. 29.—East Newport has enjoyed the biggest real estate activity during the summer season of any time since it was founded, and, although the summer months are nearly over, the sales are keeping up to a marked degree. A noticeable fact in connection with the summer's business is the high class of investors who are buying and building, many well-known business men of Los Angeles and vicinity purchasing property.

This resort has been known as a beach of homes, for the reason that most of the purchasers have built summer residences. At present there are planned or under course of construction about $70,000 worth of handsome new homes and business blocks. The largest of the homes being built is that of E. O. Engstrom, contractor, who is building a $15,000 mansion to contain 20 rooms.

There are about 20 new homes planned to be built this winter, the total cost of which will reach $40,000. A handsome store and apartment building is planned by the East Newport Town Company to occupy the site of the buildings burned in the fire this summer. The structure will cost $15,000.

BUILDING ACTIVITY CONTINUES UNABATED

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 29.—Huntington Beach has seen building activity during the summer months, and now that the fall months have arrived there seems to be very little abatement. J. W. Johnson has recently built a complete five-room residence. Editor Clarke of the Riverside Press, during the summer months, built an attractive summer home on Twelfth street and within the last few weeks construction was started on two thoroughly modern California bungalows of seven rooms each, which are being erected by the owners, L. R. Whitney and C. E. Laverling.

Hids are being sought for the construction of the new $10,000 Carnegie

Library building, actual work on which will begin within 60 days. This will be located at the corner of Eighth and Walnut, one block back from the Huntington Inn and the ocean front.

T. B. Talbert announces that actual construction work will be started, within the next few weeks, on the oil cloth and linoleum factory.

J. W. Daily, K. T. Wilcox, H. Macgregor, P. Ringville and M. Lundahl are intending to build homes on their 2½-acre tracts this fall.

SETTING OUT TREES ON NEWPORT HEIGHTS

Newport News: A second carload of trees has been received for the park on Newport Heights and are being set out. The Heights is destined to be a beauty spot in a year or two and it is probable that twenty-five or thirty new houses will be erected on the tract in the spring. The house now being constructed by the Advance Home Builders on Newport Heights is modern in every detail even down to hardwood floors and is a model of architecture. The Dam-Rousselle Company has recently finished a fine house which adds to the appearance of the townsite.

ANOTHER NEW TRACT OF ABOUT 100 LOTS

SEAL BEACH, Sept. 29.—Another new tract of about 100 lots, called the Bay View addition to Seal Beach, was placed on the market during the week.

The new tract lies to the north of the electric line and just west of Anaheim Landing.

The contracts for improvement work were let last week. The work will be rushed as fast as possible. During the week the contractors completed the improvement of blocks 206, 207 and 208.

The first lumber yard to be located in Seal Beach was arranged for during the week, when the Snow Lumber Company of Long Beach signed the contract for a location, on which it will immediately install a complete yard. It is the promise of this company that they will be ready to fill any demand for building material that may be asked of them.

The dining-room of the newly renovated hotel was opened to the public Sunday. More than 1000 people partook of the fine dinner.

SANTA FE BUILDS DOUBLE TRACKAGE

Pushes Second Rail to San Diego from L. A.; Anticipating Exposition Travel

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29.—The Santa Fe system steadily is double-tracking its line from Los Angeles to San Diego and will complete the work in time to handle the crowds expected during the exposition period in 1915, in the opinion of local railroad officials.

Wooden bridges are being replaced by concrete structures and track betterments made. The cost of the entire work, which was quietly begun months ago, will aggregate $4,000,000, it is said, and greatly facilitate both passenger and freight traffic to the southern city.

Extensive track work is being done in the vicinity of Fullerton. During the last few days the Santa Fe has spent more than $2000 a day on other betterments along the Los Angeles and valley divisions.

ONE THIRD RICE CROPS OF SOUTH IS NOW DESTROYED

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 29.—One-third of the south's rice crop has been destroyed by continuous rains, which came to a climax in a cyclone, which swept Jeanerette, Franklin and other towns late Saturday night. More than a hundred houses were demolished in the cyclone's path.

POPE IMPROVING FROM HIS RECENT ILLNESS

ROME, Sept. 29.—The Pope was so much improved today from his late illness that he received a delegation of pilgrims from Brazil, and gave his blessing to a number of girls recently taking their first communion. His doctors insisted, however, that he give up many of his duties, fearing another collapse. They said his troubles were due wholly to his advancing years.

BIG BARBECUE IS GIVEN AT RANCH IN LAGUNA CANYON

About 250 guests were entertained at a splendid barbecue given by E. R. Werdin, former street superintendent of Los Angeles, now a paving contractor, at Thomas Doyle's ranch in Laguna canyon.

Doyle provided a great repast, and from the standpoint of good things to feast upon there was nothing left to be desired.

Most of the guests came from Los Angeles, Anaheim and Orange. Werdin did all of the paving that has been done at Orange. Those present from Los Angeles included P. Wilkins of the Board of Supervisors, Ex-sheriff William White, Constable G. W. Lyons and Claire Snively, secretary to Mayor Rose. The members of the Board of Trustees of Anaheim and Orange were guests.

PLAN IMPROVEMENT OF BEACH SECTION

WEST NEWPORT, Sept. 29.—It is the intention of the Dam-Rousselle Company, owners of West Newport and Newport Heights, to make those resorts as handsome as any on the coast. Much money has been spent in the laying out of the streets and planting of beautiful shade trees. Within the last week a carload of date palms and black acacia trees was delivered to the property and workmen are planting them along the parkways. There will be four more carloads of ornamental trees planted before the work is finished.

MARINE BAND ON TOUR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The United States Marine Band, the best known organization of its kind in America, left here today for a tour of the New England states, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan, West Virginia and Maryland. Lieut. Sattlemann is the band's director. The organization is always used at White House functions and innumerable diplomatic and semi-official social affairs in Washington. This is the fourth concert tour the band has made. The renowned John Philip Sousa was one time director of the Marine Band.
